

Social Collaboration

planOfile is part of a more complex social collaboration system being developed at Creative Reality.

People work on their own goals. They also work as part of a group to help achieve their group's goals. A person will usually be part of many different types and sizes of groups, whether just a group of social friends interested in organising their next BBQ, to a company of employees trying to build the next generation social collaboration system .

A social collaboration system provides services to help group members collaborate to achieve the goals of the group.

planOfile is a system that enables group members to visualise and manage the complex interaction of members and other associated objects in order to acheive the group's goals. planOfile will normally be used by a group to organise an event or meeting between many members, but the planOfile system is generic enough that it can be used in the many other ways described on this site.
